

MARSHALL REPUBLICAN

VOLUME XXII.

MARSHALL SALINE COUNTY MISSOURI FRIDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1913.

NUMBER 51.

DEATHS

MRS. PHILLIP LAND

Mrs. Phillip Land, mother of Mose H. Land of this city, died very suddenly at her home in Neodesha, Kas., Saturday, December 6, at 1:30 a. m., at the age of 74 years.

Mr. Land left Saturday morning to attend his mother's funeral, which took place Sunday. Burial was in the Neodesha cemetery beside the remains of the husband, who died about a year ago.

JOHN JEFFERSON SMITH

John Jefferson Smith was born in Saline county, Mo., Sept. 29, 1846. He departed this life Dec. 4, 1913, at 3 a. m. at the age of 67 years, 2 months and 14 days. In 1867 he united with the Christian church at Antioch, now Christian Union. He leaves a wife, one brother, Sam C. Smith, and relatives and friends to mourn his departure. The deceased died at the residence of his brother in Sweet Springs. He had suffered with dropsy for about a year and had been down for about two months.—Sweet Springs Herald.

JOHN ALEXANDER (Col.)

John Alexander, an aged colored man of Pennyville south of Marshall, died at the Fulton hospital Saturday, December 6. The remains were brought to Marshall and burial took place Tuesday afternoon at the Pennyville cemetery.

Alexander created a good deal of excitement last spring by wanting to get married. He was adjudged insane by a jury selected by the county court and sent to the Fulton hospital for the insane.

A FINE SHOWING

T. M. Bryan of north of Grand Pass, brought down his third car of wheat last Thursday, making altogether 3,000 bushels, which he raised on 120 acres and for which he received $12,500. He said he has planted 140 acres for next year and it is in very fine condition.

He thinks this is nothing to boast of but says he had four acres of alfalfa, which are worth talking about. He cut five crops from it this year and sold $121.50 worth and still has $140 worth on hand at current prices. At this rate the land would pay for itself in two seasons.

IMPROVEMENTS AT LEXINGTON

The following article is a clipping from the Daily Intelligencer of Lexington, Mo., issue of Dec. 9:

That the Missouri Gas & Electric Service Co. does not intend to be caught napping is evident by the improvements being made at the electric light plant. Since this company bought the gas and electric plants at this place a small fortune has been spent in improving the service, and now the company is busily engaged in doubling the capacity of the electric plant. New machinery is being installed, including a new 200 K. W. generator, a Ball high speed engine, a 250 horsepower water tube boiler, and a new 125 foot stack has been erected. A line has recently been completed to Aul's mine east of town, which will hereafter be run entirely by electricity. This company is now the owner of the Richmond plant, and preparations are being made to run a line across the river and supply Richmond, Lexington Junction and Hardin from the Lexington plant. More improvements are contemplated so as to extend their zone of usefulness, and to aid in developing the mining industry in this section.

ORGAN RECITAL

Mr. F. Q. T. Pitt will have an organ recital at the Christian church next Sunday afternoon, December 14, at three o'clock. He will be assisted by Mrs. Claude L. Fitchburn of M. V. C. The program will consist of vocal and instrumental selection and promises to be a fine one. A silver offering will be received for the benefit of the music fund of the church.

OLD TIME PLANK CULVERT

Seeing this caption, some may be ready to exclaim here is some body going to agitate that culvert talk. No indeed. Never owned an engine and am not mixed up in that squabble, but have really wanted a culvert talk for at least ten years. Have been waiting for some of the tax payers to speak up, but they seem unconcerned as to where their money goes. As I am a tax payer, but not an office seeker, nor office holder, I would like to be road commissioner a few days. Having visited in six counties besides Saline, I can say we are behind in culverts, and in a general way, roads as well. We visited a family in Pettis county a few years since and could not help seeing the finely built concrete culverts everywhere we went. After a while those people paid our visit back, and as the fair was on in Marshall we asked them; glad we had something as nice to invite them to. At this time we had only a few really safe drives, owing to the automobiles we would see enroute and the boys wanted their rigs and the tenant had to have a rig, so we seemed scarce of a safe team for ladies to accompany us, but the gentleman visitor offered his "city broke" steppers and we were grateful for his thoughtful courtesy, insisted on his driving. Hitched to our new surrey and in this instance it was well for such a drive, as that was a memorable one. The above mentioned gentleman was used to driving in a hurry and those steppers had been used to well rounded concrete culverts, so he never halted them at our awful wooden affairs, but ran over them until the frightened shrieks from the three ladies on the back seat caused him to investigate, and they explained, they were being battered black and blue, but before he could bring his neck back in the direction of his houses, we had plunged into another, he said, "dog on it," about this time I thought of his kind of culverts and felt like we do when our baby acts up before company, but I could not say any thing for Saline to the "garden spot."

I think instead of grandmothering these rotten culverts, and running them like a toll is, "like skimming the river to get a drink," cut out this fussing, build good ones. If you dislike to halt as bad as I do, I am sorry for you, why you are at a culvert and must check, or risk a broken back or broken rig, or maybe get your horse's foot in an opening where the dirt has washed away. Dangerous is not a name. Go ahead boys, the tables will turn. We must have better roads and culverts too—and there never was a victory without a lot of clashing on all sides.—We need threshers as much as we need rain and the best is put before them, when we have them. Weeds and under brush at corners are view breakers and unsightly, causing autos needless anxiety. Ravines at sides of roads and washes should be checked, already some of our roads are almost gulleys, they have washed so deep. I know of a drain that might do a lot of mischief, but "what is every body's business is no body's business" and so it stays and grows larger.

A TAX PAYER.
